is no mystery

Boehmers autoclaved masonry units... Passing the test of time. Now you have all the answers.

Strength...

Our Blocks are manufactured to exceed CSA minimum comprehensive strength in 12 hours.

When You Need It

Our masonry units possess full, consistent strength by the time they are cubed at the end of our production line.

With Drier Units

Autoclaved block, contains about 1% moisture content creating excellent absorption conditions when placed in the wall. The low moisture content units are polywrapped before leaving the production line.

Less Shrinkage

Autoclaving results in 1/2 to 2/3 less shrinkage than non-autoclaved blocks.

No Thermal Shock

Autoclaving eliminates potential thermal shock damage created by extreme temperature changes in partially cured block.

Less Weight

Due to the low moisture content, our units are lighter and easier to work with.

Greater Chemical Resistance

Autoclaved units are more chemically stable and therefore more resistant to aggressive chemicals, such as sulfates. This is due to the absence of free lime as well as the inherent stability of the cured calcium silicate binder.

Less Chipping

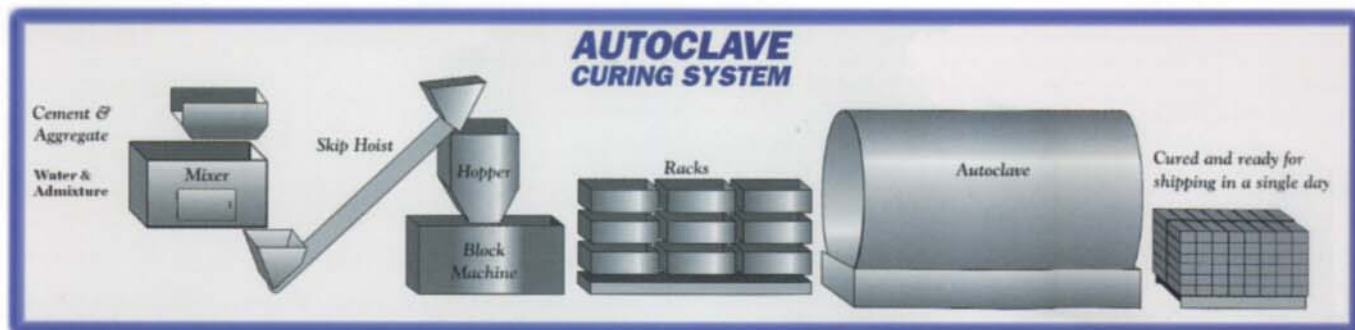

Because Boehmers Autoclaved Units are completely cured, less chipping occurs in the process handling.

That Passes The Test...

We subject all raw materials to thorough soundness tests. The autoclaving process itself represents a far more rigorous challenge than nature's freeze and thaw cycles.

Of Time.

By achieving 28 day strength in a single day, through uninterrupted complete hydration, we can manufacture and ship without the time-consuming process of final curing.
